Foreword

ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) is a worldwide federation of national standards bodies (ISO member bodies). The work of preparing International Standards is normally carried out through ISO technical committees. Each member body interested in a subject for which a technical committee has been established has the right to be represented on that committee. International organizations, governmental and non-governmental, in liaison with ISO, also take part in the work. ISO collaborates closely with the International Electrotechnical Commission (IEC) on all matters of electrotechnical standardization.

International Standards are drafted in accordance with the rules given in the ISO/IEC Directives, Part 2.

The main task of technical committees is to prepare International Standards. Draft International Standards adopted by the technical committees are circulated to the member bodies for voting. Publication as an International Standard requires approval by at least 75 % of the member bodies casting a vote.

Attention is drawn to the possibility that some of the elements of this document may be the subject of patent rights. ISO shall not be held responsible for identifying any or all such patent rights.

ISO 2789 was prepared by Technical Committee ISO/TC 46, Information and documentation, Subcommittee SC 8, Quality — Statistics and performance evaluation.

This third edition cancels and replaces the second edition (ISO 2789:1991), which has been technically revised to identify and overcome problems in the practical application of ISO 2789:1991 and to take account of developments in library practice (particularly those concerned with electronic resources and automation) that have occurred since its origination.

Introduction

This International Standard provides guidance to the library and information services community on the collection and reporting of statistics.

Clauses 3 and 6 form the core of this International Standard. Clause 3 provides definitions for most of the elements which constitute a library service; these are for statistical purposes only. Clause 6 recommends how each of these elements should be counted. Users will need to consult both clauses for the complete picture.

In addition to the original purposes of giving general guidance on the keeping of library statistics for the compilation of national statistics used for international reporting, there is a particular requirement to specify data provision required by ISO 11620.

As regards electronic resources and services, some measures are described in this International Standard as targets to be aimed at where their actual compilation may not be generally feasible at this time. With regard to those clauses of the main standard that concern such electronic resources and services, readers should particularly bear in mind the important explanations and guidelines of Annex A.

It is recognized that not all measures specified in this International Standard can be collected by libraries of different type and size. To give greater completeness, several additional measures (important for some sectors only) are described in Annex B. The aim is to ensure that, where a particular statistic is collected, the same definitions and methods are used.

All the annexes are normative. Annex C is an innovation which is important for the compilation and publication of national statistics so that they can be truly comparable between countries and over time.

The strong requirement to describe and publicize library activities can only be satisfied if data collection in libraries follows the lines of this International Standard. As far as possible, libraries should collect all data named in this International Standard that concern their activities.

The presentation and publication of statistics always need careful attention but are considered to be beyond the scope of this International Standard.

This International Standard will be maintained by a Working Group that will monitor developments and incorporate additional statistical measures as needed.

Information and documentation — International library statistics

1 Scope

This International Standard provides guidance for the library and information services community on the collection and reporting of statistics

- for the purposes of international reporting,
- to ensure conformity between countries for those statistical measures that are frequently used by library managers but do not qualify for international reporting,
- to encourage good practice in the use of statistics for the management of library and information services,
- to specify data provision required by ISO 11620.

2 Normative references (standards.iteh.ai)

3 Terms and definitions

For the purposes of this document, the following terms and definitions apply.

3.1 Libraries

3.1.1

administrative unit

any independent library, or group of libraries, under a single director or a single administration

NOTE 1 The term “independent” does not imply legal or financial independence but only that the library is a recognizably separate unit, typically within a larger organization.

NOTE 2 Typically, the administrative unit is an organization containing a central/main library, branch libraries and administrative functions. See the Example in 6.1.1.

3.1.2

branch library

part of a larger administrative unit providing, in separate quarters, a service for a particular user group (e.g. children, faculties) or for a locally defined clientele

NOTE Institute, departmental and other affiliated libraries are included. Mobile libraries are excluded.

3.1.3

central library

main library

usually that part or those parts of an administrative unit where the main administrative functions and the important parts of the library collection and services are located

NOTE An administrative unit comprising several branch libraries does not necessarily include a central library.

3.1.4

external service point

point away from library premises at which a certain service is regularly offered to users

NOTE 1 This includes places within a locality at which library material is deposited for informal circulation to a restricted group of users but without other library services, for example, old peoples' homes, community centres, collections for hospital patients, etc. Mobile libraries are excluded.

NOTE 2 The points at which mobile libraries stop are not counted as external service points.

NOTE 3 A simple PC connection to a place outside the library (e.g. in a students' home) is not counted as an external service point.

library

organization, or part of an organization, the main aims of which are to build and maintain a collection and to facilitate the use of such information resources and facilities as are required to meet the informational, research, educational, cultural or recreational needs of its users

NOTE 1 These are the basic requirements for a library and do not exclude any additional resources and services incidental to its main purpose.

NOTE 2 Where a library has more than one function (e.g. school library and public library), it must either decide what is its primary function or, in extreme cases, must divide its functionality and report data accordingly.

3.1.6

library of an institution of higher education

library whose primary function is to serve students, academic and professional staff in universities and other institutions of education at the third (tertiary) level and above

NOTE It may also serve the general public.

3.1.7

mobile library

library, sometimes a division of a public library, using specially equipped transport and furnished to provide documents and services directly to users as an alternative to access on library premises

NOTE Adapted from ISO 5127:2001.

3.1.8

national library

library that is responsible for acquiring and conserving copies of all relevant documents in the country in which the library is located; it may function as a legal deposit library

NOTE 1 Adapted from ISO 5127:2001.

NOTE 2 A national library will also normally perform some or all of the following functions: produce the national bibliography, hold and keep up to date a large and representative collection of foreign literature including documents about the country; act as a national bibliographic information centre; compile union catalogues; supervise the administration of other libraries and/or promote collaboration; coordinate a research and development service, etc.

NOTE 3 The definition of "national library" allows for more than one national library in a country.

3.1.9*public library

general library that serves the whole population of a local or regional community and is usually financed, in whole or in part, from public funds

NOTE 1 Adapted from ISO 5127:2001.

NOTE 2 A public library may be intended for the general public or for special groups of users, such as children, visually impaired persons, hospital patients or prisoners. Its basic services are free of charge or available for a subsidized fee. This definition includes services provided to schools by a public library organization.

3.1.10*school library

library attached to all types of schools below the third (tertiary) level of education whose primary function is to serve the pupils and teachers of such a school

NOTE 1 A school library may also serve the general public.

NOTE 2 This includes libraries and resource collections in all educational institutions below the third level, which may be described as "Colleges", "Colleges of Further Education", "Vocational Institutes", etc.

3.1.11*special library

independent library covering one discipline or particular field of knowledge or a special regional interest

NOTE 1 The term special library includes libraries primarily serving a specific category of users, or primarily devoted to a specific form of document, or libraries sponsored by an organization to serve its own work-related objectives.

NOTE 2 The statistics of special libraries should be collected and presented separately for those in the areas given in 3.1.11.1 to 3.1.11.7 (differentiated according to funding institutions).

3.1.11.1*government library

library maintained to serve any government service, department or agency, or parliament, including both international, national and local (regional) government organizations
