Foreword

ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) is a worldwide federation of national standards bodies (ISO member bodies). The work of preparing International Standards is normally carried out through ISO technical committees. Each member body interested in a subject for which a technical committee has been established has the right to be represented on that committee. International organizations, governmental and non-governmental, in liaison with ISO, also take part in the work. ISO collaborates closely with the International Electrotechnical Commission (IEC) on all matters of electrotechnical standardization.

International Standards are drafted in accordance with the rules given in the ISO/IEC Directives, Part 2.

The main task of technical committees is to prepare International Standards. Draft International Standards adopted by the technical committees are circulated to the member bodies for voting. Publication as an International Standard requires approval by at least 75 % of the member bodies casting a vote.

Attention is drawn to the possibility that some of the elements of this document may be the subject of patent rights. ISO shall not be held responsible for identifying any or all such patent rights.

ISO 1513 was prepared by Technical Committee ISO/TC 35, Paints and varnishes, Subcommittee SC 9, General test methods for paints and varnishes.

This fourth edition cancels and replaces the third edition (ISO 1513:1992), which has been technically revised. It also incorporates the Technical Corrigendum ISO 1513:1992/Gor.1:1994. The main technical changes are:

- a) the title has been changed to "Examination and preparation of test samples";
- b) the normative references have been updated; 49508c962b12/sist-en-iso-1513-2011
- c) a definitions clause with definitions of thixotropy and homogenization has been added;
- d) the examination and mixing procedures for liquid and paste-like products have been combined into a single clause (Clause 5);
- e) the type of sieve to be used for straining the sample is no longer specified.
