Introduction

Expertise Services cover a wide range of services. Expertise Service Providers (ESP) are e.g. appointed for giving opinions, interpretations, recommendations addressing former and future events and/or circumstances. Services can also include determination if requirements of standards or performance are met, conflict resolution and assessment and valuation of damages to both goods and services. Expert Service Providers advise, analyse and evaluate to allow decisions to be made properly.

The quality of an expertise service depends on professional competence, impartiality, objectivity, independence and integrity of the experts involved. This standard is aimed at pointing out the minimum requirements of those criteria having influence on every expertise service. It could be used by all sizes and disciplines of ESP and aims to improve transparency and understanding between clients and ESP.

Successful implementation of the standard should also help to reduce barriers to cross-border expertise services.

This standard recognizes that there are different systems of law and many jurisdictions in Europe, any of which may impose different standards or requirements.

1 Scope

This European Standard specifies the minimum requirements for expertise services carried out by individual persons and/or group of such expert individuals for a customer.

The objective is to standardize expertise services thus enabling the delivery within a specified context of the most accurate and reliable answer to a raised query.

Specific requirements of this European Standard do not apply to expertise services where obligatory contractual and / or a legal framework and regulations exist; for instance in consulting, inspection and judicial litigation.

2 Terms and definitions

For the purposes of this document, the following terms and definitions apply.

2.1

assignment

project or work that involves the Expertise Service Providers (ESP)

2.2

competence

ability to apply knowledge and skills to achieve intended results

[SOURCE: EN ISO/IEC 17024:2012, 3.6]

2.3

conflict of interest

situation in which, because of other activities or relationships, impartiality in performing expertise services is or could be compromised

[SOURCE: EN ISO 14065:2013, 3.4.5, modified — “validation or verification activities” here replaced with “expertise services”]

2.4

deliverables

outcome, result or item to be produced to complete an expertise service

Note 1 to entry: Typical deliverables are e.g. giving opinions (also first opinions), answering questions or presenting results after evaluations in oral or written expert reports.

documentation

information and its supporting medium

2.6

expert

person who, through professional qualification(s) with special skills, technical knowledge and practical experience in one or more field(s) of expertise, has competence to give an opinion in the fields about which he/she is consulted

EN 16775:2015 (E)2.7*expertise service provider*ESP

expert or several experts providing their clients with specialized services on the basis of appropriate knowledge and qualification

2.8expertise activities

aggregation of all kinds of work (e.g. preparation, assessment, procedure, deliverables, etc.) performed by the ESP for conducting an expertise service

2.9record

documents stating results achieved or providing evidence of activities performed

3 Code of Ethics3.1 General

This clause is intended to serve as key principles to the everyday conduct of Expertise Service Providers. The ethical behaviour is fundamental to build the desired level of confidence in any neutrality provided expertise service.

It commits the ESP to do nothing in the course of practicing as an ESP which compromises or impairs or is likely to compromise or impair the ESP's

- independence,
- impartiality,
- objectivity
- and integrity.

3.2 The Code

The ESP shall observe for example the following:

- The ESP should not accept assignments in any matter where there is an actual or potential conflict of interest without full disclosure to the parties and agreement of the client(s), where appropriate.
- Should an actual or potential conflict occur after assignments have been accepted, the ESP shall immediately notify the client(s) and, in appropriate cases, ask for resigning its appointment.
- The ESP shall maintain confidentiality.
- The ESP shall adopt a proper and up-to-date standard of work.
- The ESP shall not publicize its practices in any manner which may reasonably be inaccurate or misleading.

4 Knowledge / Qualification

4.1 General

The ESP shall be qualified in its field of expertise. Personnel performing work shall be competent on the basis of education, training, skills and experience. Personnel performing work affecting the quality of the expertise services shall comply with the competence criteria.

The ESP shall maintain records about its qualification.

4.2 Competence and qualification

The ESP shall have - depending on the offered service - the necessary competence.

Competence in Expertise Services can be demonstrated e.g. by professional experience, training, certification and recognitions of the ESP, scientific and technical papers published in the field of expertise, etc.

The ESP should have the relevant communication skills for example, language, technology, presentation and documentation of results.

4.3 Training and development

ESP shall maintain its knowledge up to date and undertake appropriate continuing professional development and training.

5 Expertise process

5.1 General

SIST EN 16775:2016

The process of ESP services can include the following steps described in Subclauses 5.2 to 5.6.

5.2 Initial assessment of the customer request

Depending on the type of expertise service, and before the acceptance of the task, the ESP shall check:

- the type and kind of task;
- that the task is clearly defined and understood;
- that the task is included in its competence and in the field of expertise;
- the specific knowledge needed;
- the infrastructures, instruments and materials needed;
- the possibility to fulfil the schedule indicated by the client,
- the specific applicable regulations;
- the need to obtain specific resources or external professional support;
- the information needed.
- the possibility to access the information needed;
