FOREWORD

ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) is a worldwide federation of national standards institutes (ISO Member Bodies). The work of developing International Standards is carried out through ISO Technical Committees. Every Member Body interested in a subject for which a Technical Committee has been set up has the right to be represented on that Committee. International organizations, governmental and non-governmental, in liaison with ISO, also take part in the work.

Draft International Standards adopted by the Technical Committees are circulated to the Member Bodies for approval before their acceptance as International Standards by the ISO Council.

Prior to 1972, the results of the work of the Technical Committees were published as ISO Recommendations; these documents are now in the process of being transformed into International Standards. As part of this process, Technical Committee ISO/TC 6 has reviewed ISO Recommendation R 328 and found it suitable for transformation. International Standard ISO 328 therefore replaces ISO Recommendation R 328-1963.

ISO Recommendation R 328 was approved by the Member Bodies of the following countries :

Belgium	Germany	Portugal
Brazil	Greece	Romania
Chile	India	Sweden
Colombia	Italy	Switzerland
Czechoslovakia	Japan	Turkey
Denmark	Mexico	U.S.S.R.
Egypt, Arab Rep. of	Netherlands	Yugoslavia
Finland	Norway
France	Poland

The Member Bodies of the following countries have subsequently approved this Recommendation :

South Africa, Rep. of
United Kingdom

The Member Bodies of the following countries expressed disapproval of the Recommendation on technical grounds :

Canada
Ireland

The Member Bodies of the following countries disapproved the transformation of ISO/R 328 into an International Standard :

Canada
Norway
