EN 14960-4:2025 (E)Introduction

Play is a means by which people discover and understand the world in which they live and is an essential element in a person's physical and mental growth.

It is important for a person's rounded development that, through play, they arrive at an understanding of danger, which provides a basis for assessing safety in a variety of situations. The balance between challenge and safety is an important consideration.

The inflatable game referred to in this document can provide different levels of challenge and excitement. This document aims to minimize the level of risk and the possibility of serious injury while allowing people to enjoy themselves when using inflatable equipment.

It is not the purpose of the requirements of this document to affect a person's need to play nor to lessen the contribution that inflatable play equipment makes either to the person's development or meaningful play from an educational point of view.

Where inflatable play equipment is combined with other items of play equipment, the relevant standards for the other items of equipment also apply.
